DRS Technologies Names Stephen P. Ansley as Vice President, Congressional Affairs.

Published on AllBusiness.com

PARSIPPANY, N.J.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--March 11, 2003

DRS Technologies, Inc. (NYSE: DRS) announced today that Stephen P. Ansley has joined the company as vice president, congressional affairs, at the company's Washington Operations in Arlington, Virginia.

In this new position, he will serve as a key liaison with members of the U.S. Senate, House of Representatives and their staffs.

"DRS is pleased to welcome Steve Ansley, whose extensive legislative experience adds tremendous depth to our team," said Mike Bowman, senior vice president, DRS Washington Operations. "He is a significant addition to the company's legislative support process in connection with our efforts for military and industrial business growth. As the company continues to expand, he will be instrumental in formulating strategies, as well as developing and executing legislative support initiatives."

Mr. Ansley comes to DRS with eight years of civilian experience as a professional staff member with the House Armed Services Committee. Most recently, he served for six years as Lead Professional Staff Member on the Research & Development Subcommittee, where he supported more than two dozen members of Congress. In this position, he was responsible for planning Subcommittee hearings, preparing statements, drafting legislation and other activities in support of the oversight of the Department of Defense Title II Research and Development budget request, as well as in support of the preparation and passage of the annual National Defense Authorization Act and other defense-related legislation. He managed defense-wide and special access research and development programs, as well as issues concerning major research and development and acquisition policies.

His initial Committee assignment was as Professional Staff Member, Procurement Subcommittee, where he was responsible for staff oversight of Air Force, special operations, Marine Corps, defense-wide and Department of Defense ammunition procurement programs for members of Congress on the Procurement Subcommittee.

Prior to joining the Committee, Mr. Ansley was a career officer in the U.S. Army. His military service involved a wide range of assignments, including command of the Missile Maintenance Company of the 101st Airborne Division; Technical Advisor to the Intermediate Range Nuclear forces (INF) Treaty; Assistant Program Manager, Pershing II Missile System; Systems Coordinator in the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Research, Development and Acquisition; and Product Manager, TOW Sight Improvement Program. Additionally, he gained valuable experience in congressional authorization and appropriations processes during assignments as Congressional Programs Branch Chief for the Army Legislative Liaison and, later, as Appropriations Liaison Officer for the Under Secretary of the Defense (Comptroller).

After 23 years of active service, he retired with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. His numerous awards and citations include the Legion of Merit with oak leaf cluster, Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Meritorious Service Medal with oak leaf cluster and Army Commendation Medal with oak leaf cluster.

Mr. Ansley earned a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration from the University of Tennessee and a Masters in Business Administration degree from the Florida Institute of Technology.
