Profession initiale :

Carrière :

1972 : active duty dans l'US Army, pendant 11 ans

1983 : served in the US Army Reserve, pendant 16 ans ; prend sa retraite de l'Army en 1999 avec le rang de lieutenant colonel. He served in numerous positions at the Department of the Army, Office of the Controller, Office of the Director of Operations and Maintenance, and the Office of the Director of the Army Budget. (Attention ils doivent faire une erreur, puisque dans les 90s, il travaille au congrès ?)

Selon Who's Who et autres sources : 1984-2001 : professional staff member

1993 - 2000 : Committee on Appropriations, Senate

1993-97 : Professional Staff member, subcommittee on defense

1994 : Clerk, Subcommittee on Military construction, Veterans Affairs and Related Agencies

1995 – 96 : Minority Professional Staff Member, Subcommittee on Defense

1998 : professional Staff member, on the Committee

1999-00 : legislative coordinator, committee on appropriations

Attention, d'autres sources disent qu'il est à la fin des 1990s (pas de date plus précise) assistant staff director et legislative director du Senate Appro Com, et qu'il a été responsable de la revue des « 13 » annual bills du président : est-ce à dire qu'il y est depuis 1987 ? de plus, apparemment, il est à un moment staff director du subcommittee sur les military construction.

Autre source, c'est la bonne :

1984 – 2001 : House AND Senate appropriations committees + senior professional analyst, staff director, mili constru senate appro subcomm

1997 : deputy staff director of the Senate Appropriations committee

2001 : vice president, government operations, Oshkosh Corp.

2006 - : executive vice president, government operaitons and industry relations, Oshkosh Corp

en résumé : 27 ans dans l'armée + 16 ans sur Capitol Hill + après dans l'industrie

Joseph (Jay) H. Kimmitt
Executive Vice President, Government Operations and Industry Relations

Prior to joining Oshkosh in 2001, Joseph (Jay) H. Kimmitt was most recently assistant staff director and legislative director for the United States Senate Appropriations Committee. In that role, he was responsible for technical analysis and political issues for all 13 annual appropriations bills passed by Congress. Prior to that, Kimmitt held increasingly responsible positions on Capitol Hill, including senior professional analyst on the Defense Appropriations sub-Committee and staff director for the U.S. Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Military Construction.

Kimmitt began his career with the U.S. Army in 1972, spent 11 years on active duty and then served 16 years in the U.S. Army Reserve before retiring in 1999 with a rank of lieutenant colonel. He served in numerous positions at the Department of the Army, Office of the Controller, Office of the Director of Operations and Maintenance, and the Office of the Director of the Army Budget.

Kimmitt holds a bachelor's degree in engineering from the United States Military Academy at West Point and holds a master's degree in business administration from Syracuse University. In addition, he graduated from the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College in 1990. Kimmitt is based in Oshkosh's Washington D.C office.
